New HRIS Website

ISSUE/QUESTION

HRIS would like to announce the launch of their new website

ANSWER

The new HRIS website has been redesigned to make it easier for you to access training, forms and much more. Below is a brief description of the information that will be available on the new site.

- Home Page: Displays up-to-date information regarding system availability and network issues.
- About Us: Describes who HRIS is and what they do.
- Training & Job Roles: Contains HRIS training database and also lists the forms and reports that are available for each job role.
- Notices: Displays archived information regarding HRIS.
- Tools: Contains helpful reference guides, checklists and supplemental training tips.
- Forms: Lists forms that are necessary to process HRIS information.
- Related Links: Displays important contact information for departments that are associated with HRIS.
- Contact Us: Displays HRIS contact information.

The new website will be available on March 2, 2010.

Please visit HRIS at <http://www.hris.state.az.us/>.

If you have any questions or suggestions on how HRIS might improve the website, please contact Jennifer Bowling at jennifer.bowling@azdoa.gov or phone at 602.542.7464.
